6. On the contrary, the Colonies were compelled to make a solemn and solemn appeal to the English Law and the British Constitution, as much as the Government of Great Britain... The respective Colonies are entitled to the common law of England.

7. In my next letter I shall show, on the highest judicial authority (the decision of the Court of King's Bench), that Slavery was never legalized in England. It could not be for the reasons already adduced; viz: that Slavery is incompatible with the British Constitution...

8. By what authority, then, or by what right, did the Colonies assume the power of passing laws? No such authority was derived, or could, by any possibility or by any official document or otherwise, be derived from the King, the Crown, the Parliament, or the Judiciary of the mother country.

9. Now, we hardly need say, that if a party, inter on such purposes, shall so far succeed as to amend the Constitution of the United States, it will be a great triumph.

CONGRESSIONAL SKETCHES—GERRIT SMITH. We publish in another place some Congressional Sketches, from one of our Pro-Slavery exchanges.

A THRILLING SPECTACLE—A little child, only three years old, upon the roof of a three-story house in Fourth avenue, New York, on Wednesday evening, and approached the eaves, and, swinging this in his hand, looked down with unflinching composure on an excited and trembling crowd.

Another Chapter of Leonard Wray Next Week—Meaning, read the beautiful story of Martha Russell, on first page, and another letter from the favorite Bell Smith.

10. The Louisville Journal and other Southern prints that opposed the passage of the Nebraska Bill, now that it is unannounced, labor to assuage the Northern agitation aroused by it. They publish extracts from Northern papers, claiming that, after all the blood that has been shed, the interests of the North and South are happily adjusted.

11. The Louisville Journal, however, says that slaveholders have gained anything substantial from it. We understand all this. They fear that the People of the free States may be driven to trample under foot the old parties, the institutions, and the common law of England. And it has now been shown that the Colonies, equally with the Mother country, were under the authority of constitution, and under the control of that law.

12. By what authority, then, or by what right, did the Colonies assume the power of passing laws? No such authority was derived, or could, by any possibility or by any official document or otherwise, be derived from the King, the Crown, the Parliament, or the Judiciary of the mother country.

THE REGENERATION OF CONGRESS. BE IT REMEMBERED. That so much of the Missouri Compromise of 1820 as prohibited foreign the legalization of human slavery in any part of the Territory of the United States north of the parallel, north lat, and east of the Rocky Mountains—that is, all of the Missouri Compromise which was embraced in the Missouri Compromise Act, passed by the passage of the Nebraska-Kansas bill of Stephen Arnold Douglas—and that the Representative of the free States who voted therefor, as follows: Maine—Mosco McDonald—1. Massachusetts—None. New Hampshire—Henry Hibbard—1. Connecticut—Colin M. Ingersoll—1. Vermont—None. New York—Thomas W. Cumming, Francis B. Cutting, Peter Rowe, John J. Taylor, William M. Van Hook, George W. Peck, Walker, Mike Walsh, Theodore R. West—9. Pennsylvania—Samuel A. Bridges, John L. Neff, John W. Miller, George W. Peck, John William H. Kurtz, John McAnis, Asa Paeker, John Robbins, Jr., Christian M. Straub, William M. Van Hook, George W. Peck, John W. Miller, Samuel Lilly, George Wall—2. Ohio—David T. Dimsy, Frederick W. Green, Daniel W. Kimball, and John W. Peck—1. Indiana—John G. Davis, Cyrus C. Dunham, Norman Edgell, W. H. English, Thomas A. Hendricks, John H. Johnson, John W. Peck, Illinois—James C. The issue bill passed the Senate without amendment. The Senate of the free States, on the 26th of May, passed the bill for the free States without amendment, without dissent. The Senate of the free States, on the 26th of May, passed the bill for the free States without amendment, without dissent.

Foreign immigrants brought from the single port of Liverpool to this country in the year 1853, was 219,672. Nine hundred and seventy-seven ships, with a tonnage of 641,658, were employed in their transportation.

European writers describe a large class of population throughout England and the continent, as being distinguished by restless, wandering, and unsettled habits. It is the formation of the skull and face. Animals and sensual nature largely predominate, with them, over the mind and intelligence.

The editor of the New York Herald, a frigid, cold-blooded man, who has been writing for many years, and who has been writing for many years, and who has been writing for many years.

The letter of Mr. Hailehurst was peculiarly explicit and hearty. I am decidedly opposed to the repeal of the Missouri Compromise. I am decidedly opposed to the repeal of the Missouri Compromise.

The Missouri Compromise was a concession to the Southern slaveholders, and a concession to the Southern slaveholders, and a concession to the Southern slaveholders.

For the National Era. JUNE BY WILLIAM ALBERT WELLS. The living day, this summer weather, Chased by the joyful host, The light and the shadow go together, Over the browning wheat. And after the staring daytime doses, The sun will rise, and the dawn, The moon peep out, and the bright roses, Over our native sky.

The steady grey larks wing, And down below, in the misting shadows, The merry small birds sing. My tired foot, from the beam sun going, And as the dew, the dew is o'er, As the dew is o'er, and the dew is o'er, The fair clouds die sweet.

Give me a bed with a brook-fair high me, Pattering low and sweet; And a glimpse of the Dryads glistening by me, In their dew-drops and their green. Give me a brown-leaved volume old, Quaint with its antique drama, Leading the full-blown fancies golden, Back in a swelling strain.

THE PEOPLE SPEAKING. Tuesday, 6th inst., was held the first election for municipal officers of the consolidated city of Philadelphia, including the former county and city, and embracing a larger population than that of South Carolina. The Administration Party was completely prostrated.

THE PRESS AND THE PRIVILEGES OF CONGRESS. It seems that some of the Northern press were really loathe to the belief that a Northern Senator had been menaced in this city on account of his denunciation of the Nebraska bill.

THE PRINCIPLES OF THE NEBRASKA BILL. The result was a strong popular excitement in Alexandria, and among the leaders of this place; and in the former a meeting was privately held for the purpose of concerting measures for inflicting personal indignity upon Mr. Sumner, or setting and holding him as a captive.

PHOTOGRAPHY.—THE BALTIMORE PLATFORM. THE NEBRASKA ISSUE. First, let us break on the wheel of public opinion—the Senators and Representatives from the free States who voted for the repeal of the Missouri Compromise for the repeal of the Missouri Compromise.

Now, we do not believe that the citizens of Washington are to be moved by such trifling as we have not time to do. We have no doubt that the safety of any of the members so brutally assailed; but let it be remembered that the editor of the "Organ" is the printer of the House; in other words, one of his officers; and that, by courtesy, he is admitted to the floor of the Senate.

Having been admitted by courtesy to the privilege of the floor, prostitute the public press to the most intemperate assaults upon the character of several of its members, and in calling for popular vengeance against them? In such a case, the editor of the "Organ" is under a special obligation to respect the privilege of its members.

THE THICKENING EVENTS OF THE FUTURE. The Herald, of New York, contains a report of the speech made in that city by Senator Douglas, in the course of which, he thus boldly presented the programme of slaveholding officers for the future.
